Katherine Berquin

Founder & Head of Design

Katherine Berquin is a Belgian jewellery designer and the founder of Berquin Jewels, established in 1999. Based in Brussels' Sablon district, she combines goldsmithing and gemmological expertise with a sensitivity to colour and personal meaning. Her starting point is the woman who will wear the jewel: her individuality, her story and the freedom to express herself as life unfolds.

Her path into jewellery took shape in the summer of 1995, during a stay in the Swiss mountains, when she returned to a childhood ambition to become a jewellery designer. Over the following four years, she trained in goldsmithing and jewellery creation at TNA in Antwerp, gemmology and diamond grading at HRD in Antwerp, and jewellery retail management at the CFH Institute in Lausanne.

Katherine spent five years working as a gemmology expert and teacher at HRD in Antwerp, specialising in the certification of coloured gemstones. This knowledge sits alongside a more intuitive relationship with stones: she is drawn to their colour and individual character, and to the possibilities they suggest for a design. Technical understanding and creative instinct inform one another in her work.

Berquin Jewels began in a home atelier before Katherine opened a boutique in the Sablon. Today, she welcomes clients by appointment in her private showroom. Listening is part of her creative process: understanding what matters to a woman helps her find a jewel that feels personal, both in its appearance and in what it represents.

That approach finds its expression in the Reflection Collection: rings with interchangeable gemstones, known as Milestones of Life. The patented collection allows a woman to change the colour and meaning of her ring while keeping the same precious object. A stone can mark a birth, a love, an achievement or a new beginning. Over time, the ring becomes a place for memories, with room for those still to come.

Berquin Jewels received UNIZO's Handmade in Belgium label in 2018 and official artisan recognition from the Belgian Federal Public Service for Economy in 2024. As Katherine explores selective international distribution, she intends to personally guide future retail partners in understanding the collection and sharing its story with their clients.

Her jewellery should reflect her.”*

Indicative Prices

Reflection Collection and Milestones of Life · October 2026

The indicative retail prices below include VAT and are based on the 2026 price lists. The Reflection Ring and the chosen Milestone of Life are priced separately; the price of a complete combination is the sum of the two.

Reflection Rings

Rings in 18-carat gold: from €2,210, excluding the Milestone of Life. The listed versions range up to €12,720, depending on the model and finish.

For reference: Rose Dew in yellow or rose gold, without diamonds: €2,210. Fine Twine in white gold with 0.18 ct of diamonds: €3,735. Grand Waterfall in white gold with 0.45 ct of diamonds: €9,215. These prices are for the ring only.

The price depends on the ring model, the amount of gold and the making charges, the chosen gold colour — white, yellow or rose — and whether the ring is set with diamonds. The number of diamonds and their total carat weight also determine the price.

Milestones of Life

Interchangeable Milestones: from €90 each. The selection in the price list ranges up to €2,500 each, for the listed diameters of 10 to 11 mm.

Examples include: Terracotta jasper: €90; faceted amethyst: €375–€600; ruby: €1,200–€1,700; Paraíba tourmaline: €1,900–€2,500. These ranges cover the listed sizes and variants.

Gemstone prices depend on carat weight — the weight of the stone — as well as gemstone type, quality and rarity. Factors include colour, clarity, cut quality and the balance between supply and demand. For pearls and gold Milestones, the characteristics of the material concerned apply.
